

Dear Cheryl,

I am here speaking as an elder sister to you. I remember our hopes and enthusiasm when we elected you into the IAW Presidency. You made the impression of an intelligent and strong personality, and we hoped that your impetus would carry our organisation forward. Nobody, and I repeat nobody, cared if you were black, white, brown or something else.

Many months later I am standing here, speechless in front of IAW's situation, to which your policy of distrust and suspicion has contributed.

If you still have one positive reaction to this organisation, please step down and leave it to us to clean up the pieces of your presidency and move IAW into a new era of friendship, trust, cooperation, care, loyalty and obedience to IAW principles.

Rosy Weiss, Hon. President
